

RAILBIRDS, ARISE!

(Originally published September 1962)

We read recently that Mrs. Grace Thomas, who is running for governor in our state of Georgia, has complained that other gubernatorial candidates are stealing planks from her platform.

So far, we have not read that either Mr. Griffin or Mr. Sanders has come out in favor of open bars or legalized pari-mutuel betting and horse racing. Until these worthy ones steal those planks from Mrs. Thomas, we are going to stick with her. We like her refreshing and forthright approach; and besides, with a foot on a brass bar-rail, or elbows on the aluminum track-rail there is no room for hypocrisy.
