

WHEN NOT TO HOLD A SKEET SHOOT

(Originally published May 1968)

The Southeastern Sectional Meeting of the American Urological Association was going on in Atlanta at the same time as the Martin Luther King funeral. One of the organization's regular recreational activities during non-meeting hours is an annual skeet shoot. With unfortunate timing and the funeral procession only short blocks away, some thirty Urologists and their shotguns assembled outside the Marriott Hotel to await transportation to the Gun Club. The police came instead. According to Philip Schley, it took some explaining to convince the law that their interests were innocent.
